

FANN PRESERVATION AND CONSERVATION POLICY

The Florida Association of Native Nurseries supports the preservation and conservation of native plants in their natural habitats and encourages the planting of native species in landscaping. FANN advocates the propagation of native plants by licensed nurseries using best management practices. FANN does not endorse the removal or transplantation from natural areas any native species that are listed as threatened or endangered, unless those areas are in imminent danger of destruction. In such cases, native plants should be salvaged and transplanted only in compliance with all local, state, and federal laws and regulations.

Adopted from Florida Native Plant Society policy in 1980s/1990s.
